CORINTHIAN

JUNE

Dear Mr. Girard:

For more than one hundred years you have been sending boys from this school into a larger, more demanding life for which you have prepared them. Through generation after generation they have added respect and honor to your name. They have become doctors, lawyers, teachers, and skilled craftsmen; but above all they have become good citizens and good people.

Now that we are about to graduate and to leave the home and school you gave us we are suddenly aware of how much you have done for us. First, you gave our mothers help when they badly needed it. Then you brought us to your college where we have been nourished in body and in mind, where we have found true friends and have known a good life. If the child is father of the man, then we can face the future unafraid, for you have provided well for your foster sons. And finally, your life and the deeds which have made it will always serve as a source of strength in need. You have given us of your spirit, and we shall "play the game" with all we have.

We shall take with us the image of your greatness and the wisdom of your words, "My deeds must be my life." Now we shall go to prove our worthiness.

West End

Our first days as Newbies began at West End where we made new friends and learned a new way of life, finding a place and learning to respect the others fellows' rights and gaining their respect. We grew stronger and surer with each day's adventure. We began to talk about the "govy," the "secy," and "grub," and to become "brothers of Girard."

Middle School

The Middle School marked our first major step up the Main Road. Here for the first time we were taught by men teachers. Studies became more serious and important. Organized athletics developed our competitive feelings and sportsmanship. Accomplishment became a responsibility. Our friendships grew in strength. In the friendly classroom life we began to know the purpose of school.

Chapel

We shall never forget the magnificence and beauty of our Chapel. Something of the Christmas Concerts, the Sunday services, the Wednesday morning talks will be forever a good and abiding memory. As we read this, we shall be thinking seriously of our graduation, of walking down the aisle, of leaving Girard and we shall be sad and glad. We shall be thankful for Stephen Girard's generosity.

Armory

The echoing sounds of excited students at a basketball game, the stentorian commands of officers drilling the Battalion, and the varied tones of horns and drums at Band practice will be brought to our minds when we see this picture of the Armory. We shall remember rhythmic pounding of track men practicing, the pick-up contests in basketball and the exhilaration of physical satisfaction in good exercise with our growing in strength.

Infirmary

Girard College boys are healthy because they have good care. We can thank our nurses and doctors for their devotion to our well being. Overweight or underweight, toothache or headache, whatever the ailment major or minor we found the care we needed. Some of us who belonged to the "operation metrical" practically joined the staff while enjoying those unusual meals. The Infirmary has been our refuge when we needed care.

Mechanical School

In his will Stephen Girard expressed a desire to have each student taught a trade or a skill so that on leaving our school the student could earn his living. The Mechanical School has given many of us skills which will fulfill the desires of our Founder, as carpenters, printers, draftsmen, electricians, machinists or as automobile mechanics. We shall miss the hours working with our teachers in learning these trades.

High School

The doors seen in this picture of the High School were the entrance to 180 days of classes and experiences and personalities which are deeply etched in our minds. Assembly programs, semester examinations, career programs, dramatic productions, daily classes, awards of honors in the N.H.S., and as winners of varsity letters, WGC programs, and remedial periods filled the days. We have absorbed from all of these a purpose and a meaning.

Library

Girard is the proud possessor of a library superior to that of many colleges and most schools. How many hours have we spent there? How much have we been influenced in our learning and maturing by all that it has offered? Probably much more than we realize. In our tense and struggling world the library stands as a symbol of the knowledge that will keep it free.

Allen Hall

In the future when we think of Girard, our thoughts will focus on the good life we had in Allen Hall where we shared with one another the problems, the hopes, and the honors of our final year. We shall find new friends in the years to come, but they can never grant us the unrestrained friendships we have known here. Finally we are grateful for the pleasant and firm guidance of Dr. Ziel, Dr. White, Dr. Lander and Mr. Pease.

How many boys see what I mean? Hands.

Wellllll Boycott!

Step to the side close. . .

Gooood night!

Out in industry . . .

Good morning! Our story for today is . . .

Mr. Loder and I will have to give you a demonstration of these things. Our aim is a little better!

Whooo stole the chicken?

This is not a threat. This is just a bulletin of advanced information.

Once more, we begin at the beginning.

Please boys, I must have that time-clock.

Now you use the shallow arm pool to level him off.

I've got a suit for every day of the week, and this is it.

Are you a man or a bibby?

I've seen some looney kids in my day.

Well, I shouldn't say, but then again I will.

Let me have just one day I can think, without that thing hammering in my ear.

Now would ya' tell me why ya' did it?

Say, now, listen!

Gentlemen, the axe is falling.

Posture!

That's the first mistake I've ever made.

My production! My production!

There are no loopholes, you have to chase it.

Hey bird!

It's an E, but it's a good E and something to be proud of.

All boys in the New Jersey Area . . .

Everybody, right on up the hill.

Don't have the authority.

Who's the supervisor on the second deck?

I give you E.

To the Graduating Class of 1962

Dr. Reese E. Dukes

Dear Class of 1962:

Congratulations on receiving your diploma from Girard! This is one of the most important events of your life. The training you have received will play an important part in your happiness during the next half century. We hope it has been of sufficient quality to enable you to be successful in the career you have chosen.

Today, you join the ranks of thousands of Girard graduates who have gone before you. Almost all of these Sons of Girard have become outstanding citizens. We are sure you will too.

You have a wonderful and challenging future. The world will probably change more during your lifetime than it has during all the previous periods of recorded history. You will be an integral part of this change. How exciting!

Now is the time of dreams for you. However, remember dreams come true only if you are willing to work, and work hard, to make them become realities. For most of you, the work of the next twenty years will determine if you will be the noteworthy person you are dreaming of becoming. If you succeed, nobody will be more pleased than the men and women here at Girard who have helped you grow to the man you are today.

As you leave Girard, our main wish for you is that you never stop growing. Regardless of the career you choose you will always find there are things you do not know. Just as a tree grows branches as long as it lives, so you should continue to grow intellectually and spiritually as long as you live.

During the two years Mrs. Dukes and I have been associated with you, we have been impressed with your friendliness and cooperation. These traits have made our jobs as a host and a hostess for your class a most pleasant and enjoyable experience. Thank you for giving us the opportunity to be so closely associated with your group.

Again, congratulations! It has been a pleasure to work with you.

Sincerely,

Reese E. Dukes

Senior Highlights

At Girard a Hummer goes through the years with the beacon of the senior year beckoning him onward. After ten long years we have reached our goal and made our hope a reality, never to be forgotten. Now we look back on this wonderful year, crowded with the good life but far, far too brief.

We can still feel the emotional tang of enjoying our first days as seniors and vividly recall the pride of walking down the chapel aisle.

Then there was the White Supper, our final Christmas Concert. WGC, the productions of the Dramatic Club, soccer, wrestling, fencing, dances, trips, College Boards, term papers, and the endless hours of study — each of these and many more are the color and spirit painted on the canvas of our best year.

The Washington trip gave us a new class unity. Seeing the Jefferson and Lincoln Memorials, hearing a Congressional debate, and visiting the White House were memorable events. They created a highlight in this great year, etched in our minds as a gift from our older brothers, the Alumni.

We shall miss our life in Allen, our teachers and coaches, our home, and most of all our friends. Suddenly we have become very conscious of how much they have all given us, to prepare us for jobs, military service, or college, for all the demands that will be made on us when commencement is in the past.

Embedded in our every action and word will be the responsibility of knowing that we are sons of Girard and that we shall be reflecting the fuller meaning of the education and the way of life which have so bountifully been provided for us by our Founder, Stephen Girard. We look back with pride on our school and go forward eagerly to prove that we are worthy Girardians.

Allen Hall Life

(First Row) Mr. Pease, Mrs. Pease, Mr. Maurer

Coming up the Main Road is a long and sometimes difficult journey. It has led us from the Junior School to a Hummer's Utopia, Allen Hall, and has covered a period of ten years. We look back on those as the necessary preparation for the good life that has been ours in our final year at Girard.

The dating privilege, a room with your chosen friends, the no-pass privilege and other advantages were important. Beyond these, there developed a new spirit and purpose made real by the fact that we would soon be leaving the Hum for jobs and college. Our friendships grew deeper and stronger. We learned that responsibility is synonymous with the life of a senior and that freedom is an earned privilege.

There were many memorable high points: the Washington Trip, the White Supper, and the Battalion dance among others. There was the pride in leading a team to victory or in learning to accept defeat. And in our Allen life we shared them all.

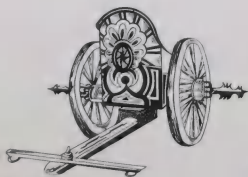

What we have learned and enjoyed in Allen Hall will be a part of our characters forever. It has been a good life and a good year.

Student Body President

BRUCE ALAN GORDON (BRUCE)

6013 Loretta Avenue

Philadelphia, Pa.

Academic and Stenographic

Girard News, Corinthian, Seminar, World Affairs Council, Student Council President, Soccer, Baseball, Basketball, Dramatic Club, N. H. S.

A leader throughout his years at Girard, he reached the pinnacle of student offices at the "Hum" when he was elected Student Body President. Winning three Varsity letters a year and being inducted into the National Honor Society added to his achievements. Bruce truly served his alma-mater as best he knew how.

Dear Fellow Girardians:

During the year that I was your Student Body President I have learned a great deal. Suddenly I see vividly that each of us could have done so much more and so much better in every day's living for ourselves, our classmates, and our beloved school. Now it is urgent; it is the time for you to realize the importance of Girard College in your lives, to take advantage of the opportunities offered you, and to act so that your deeds express your gratitude.

You must resolve to elect only intelligent, courageous, and competent officers who will act for the good of the school and who will not bow down to popularity. You personally must support them so long as they honorably fulfill their responsibilities.

As you read this I shall be graduating and leaving behind me the security and kindness, the affection and protection which is still yours. Try to see it clearly and to appreciate it by your good work.

Sincerely,

Bruce A. Gordon

Senior Class President

JOHN CHARLES KEENAN (ARCH)

Academic and Drafting

N. H. S., Corinthian, WGC, Dramatic Club, Student Council, World Affairs Council

All of us at one time or another have felt the effects of John's leadership and personality. His cheerful disposition and jovial manner will really be missed. We pride ourselves in having John as Class President.

Dear Classmates:

We shall soon be leaving Girard and going our separate ways. After ten years of growing and living together, this is the end of the first important period of our lives. Commencement marks the beginning of a new way of life when what we have learned here will be tested. In a world where skills and substantial education are necessary for a good life we join the thousands of Girardians who have preceded us.

Our years together will be among our cherished memories. There will be nothing in the future like them. They will always be a source of strength when we need it. I know that all of us will often turn back in our minds to the friendships we have had here and find a comfort and a reason for doing what is right. To do our best because we are Hummers is a tradition which has continued over one hundred years.

There is a respected place in society for each of us, and it is our responsibility to find it and earn it. As graduates of Girard we represent her in all our actions and words. In college, in business, and in our neighborhoods, wherever we may be, ours is a proud position which we have inherited and which we must uphold. It will be by our accomplishments that we will repay our indebtedness to Girard.

Now we shall graduate and depart in many directions. Nothing, however, will be able to dissolve our friendships and our love for our school. We will strengthen her good name.

I am humbly grateful to all of you for the faith and support you have given me. You have made this a wonderful year. May God bless you and guide you safely through the years ahead.

Sincerely,

John C. Keenan

RICHARD FESTUS FLAHERTY (RICH)

Vice-President

General I and Stenography

Soccer, Basketball, WGC, Student Council, Dramatic Club, Track

Rich showed a great deal of athletic ability during his years at Girard. He was a fine leader who possessed a friendly, cheerful attitude towards all.

LOUIS JOSEPH DI GUGLIELMO (LOU)

Secretary

General I and Stenography

Baseball, Soccer, Dramatic Club, Student Center

Lou's fertile mind, infectious laugh, and sense of humor all made him one of our most popular classmates. As Class Secretary he did a commendable job and he also contributed to both the soccer and baseball teams.

GEORGE JOHN NAJARIAN (GEORGE)

Treasurer

Academic and Stenography

N. H. S., Girard Literary Magazine, Band, Student Center

Quiet and studious, George was one of the top students of the class for a long time. As co-editor of the Girard Literary Magazine and a lieutenant in the Band, he spent his time improving Girard.

DAVID THOMAS ALBEE (DAVE)

Academic and Stenography

Seminar, Glee Club, Band, Girard Literary Magazine, Girard News

Everyone knew Dave as a friendly, easy-going fellow who was always ready to help out a friend. As President of the Glee Club he did an exceptional job.

JOHN MALCLOM ALLARDYCE (MAC)

General II and Drafting

Soccer, Baseball, Echelon

Mac could draw, play the drums, and participate in sports with a facility that amazed all. His ability to make friends and keep them will stand out in our minds.

MICHAEL HENRY AMBROSE (MIKE)

General II and Clerical

Student Center, Band, N.O.M.A., Girard Literary Magazine

Mike was intimate with few, but was appreciated by all. He was interested in good music and good books. Better-than-average in his scholastic work and quick with figures, he held the position of bookkeeper for the Student Center.

JOSEPH MICHAEL BABIAK (JOE)

General II and Drafting

Echelon

Joe's contagious smile and winning personality brought him many a friend at Girard. He liked to be friendly with everyone he came into contact with. Joe was a true "Hummer".

VINCENT PAUL BAKY (VINCE)

Academic and Machine Shop

Seminar, WGC, Girard News, Band, Swing Band

Vince was an active member in both the Swing Band and Concert Band. Always willing to lend a hand, no matter what the reason, he had the real "Hum" spirit.

ROBERT CARL BASHER (BOB)

General I and Carpentry

Soccer, WGC, Dramatic Club, Student Council

Bob, a happy-go-lucky fellow, liked everybody and everybody liked him. His leadership on the Student Council and his ability on the soccer field earned him a place in our hearts.

MALCOLM TOBEY BERRY (BER)

General I and Stenography

Corinthian, WGC, Swimming

Good humor and witty remarks are only natural for Ber. His wild sense of humor was put to good use as assistant director of WGC. Also we can't forget his participation on the swimming team.

ALBERT JOHN BILHEIMER (PETE)

General I and Machine Shop

Soccer, Wrestling, Baseball

Pete was a competent worker in whatever he undertook. His abilities in soccer, wrestling, and baseball were well balanced by his dexterity in the Machine Shop.

WILLIAM BISCONTINI (BILL)

General I and Machine Shop

Rifle Club, World Affairs Council, Echelon

Bill took life in stride. He enjoyed working in the Machine Shop, and, as a member of the Rifle Club, he was a fine marksman. A good-natured fellow, he always gave his best in whatever he did.

JAMES WILLIAM BRAUN (JIM)

General I and Machine Shop

Soccer, Wrestling, Girard News, Dramatic Club

Although small in stature, Jim was not short on ability. He was a good athlete on both the wrestling and soccer teams, and his activities included membership on The Girard News and in the Dramatic Club.

THOMAS LOUIS BUCHMAN (TOM)

General I and Machine Shop

Wrestling, Soccer

Tom's affable and warm personality made him a friend to all. Regarded as one of Girard's best wrestlers, he compiled an enviable record during his last three years.

JOSEPH FRANK CALOGERO (DINO)

General II and Printing

Corinthian, Track, Rifle Club

We will remember Dino as a tall, care-free fellow with a flare for the opposite sex. He contributed to THE CORINTHIAN as printing advisor, doing a conscientious job.

ANDREW HEINER CARUSO (ANG)

General I and Clerical

Fencing, Corinthian, WGC, Dramatic Club

Always willing to lend a hand or to take part in a debate, Ang was a real friend to all. As captain of the fencing team he was outstanding in ability and leadership.

JAMES JOSEPH COLLINS (JIM)

Academic and Drafting

Swimming, Girard News, Band, WGC, Swing Band

As a strong 200-yard freestyler on the swimming team and captain of the Concert Band, Jim's determination and endurance won the respect of underclassmen and classmates.

JOHN KENNETH COYLE (JOHN)

General II and Automotive

Baseball, Soccer, Track

John's big 'ove was athletics and he went all out for them. His aggressiveness was envied by many, and his easy-going manner was appreciated by all.

JOHN CUPANI (JOHN)

Academic and Carpentry

Photography Club, Corinthian, Dramatic Club, Band, Swing Band

John earned a name as a mathematician and a musician. Membership in numerous activities kept him always on the go, yet John was a good student.

JOSEPH DAILEY (JOE)

Academic and Clerical

WGC, Corinthian, Girard News, Girard Literary Magazine, World Affairs Council, Dramatic Club, Basketball, Seminar

Joe was not only one of the most important members of our class, but also one of the most respected. His fine speaking voice always found an audience and his contributions to Girard were invaluable.

PATRICK DALY (PAT)

General I and Carpentry

Band, Dramatic Club, Swing Band

Pat was intensely interested in music and he displayed his talent on the drums at our various social events. His whole-hearted contributions to the Concert Band was appreciated by his classmates.

DONALD WILLIAM DEBUS (DON)

Academic and Drafting

N. H. S., WGC, Dramatic Club, Rifle Club, World Affairs Council, Basketball

Don, one of those rare individuals who did many things well, contributed to numerous activities. We expect much of Don in the future and wish him a happy life.

RAYMOND PAUL DE CLEMENT (RAY)

General II and Automotive

Wrestling

When Ray was around, the discussion was always about cars. His friendly and cheerful attitude will take him far. We wish him all the success in the world and in the automotive field.

DAVID STANFORD DICKMAN (DAVE)

Academic and Stenography

Student Center, Band, Student Council, World Affairs Council, N.O.M.A., Girard Literary Magazine

Dave's activities were many and varied. They ranged from Manager of the Student Center to Corresponding Secretary of the Student Council. Dave realized the great opportunities Girard offers and he took full advantage of them.

ANNIBALE ANDREW DI GIUSEPPI (DEGE)

General I and Pattern Making

Glee Club, Dramatic Club, Photography Club

Dege was the kind of fellow who made everyone want to laugh and be happy. He was never at a loss for words, and as M.C. at many social affairs, he did exceptionally well.

ALFRED PHILIP DI TIZIO (FRED)

General II and Machine Shop

Wrestling, Track, Girard News

Fred, a boy of tremendous energy and strength, put his qualities to work for him on the wrestling team and he maintained a good record throughout his wrestling career. He will always be held in high esteem by his classmates.

ALLEN GREGG DOUGHERTY (DOC)

Academic and Stenography

Swimming

Doc studied vocabulary as a hobby. He could usually be found reading or studying. Swimming was second nature to him and he was a valuable member of the swimming team.

HARVEY ANDREW FELDMAN (HOZ)

Academic and Stenography

WGC, N. H. S., Girard News, Dramatic Club, Glee Club

The center of any argument was a role well-played by Hoz. He was one of our better students, and if he keeps plugging in the future as he has in the past, he can be assured of success in his chosen field.

EUGENE FERRO (GENE)

General I and Automotive

Soccer, Baseball, Student Center

Gene was a natural and persevering athlete. His physical appearance was impeccable. We expect him to be a great golfer.

PHILIP EDWARD FRANCO (PHIL)

General I and Clerical

Swimming, WGC., Dramatic Club, Corinthian, Rifle Club

Swimming, acting, and dancing were the nucleus of Phil's years at Girard. Although he was a practical joker, we all agree that this was a welcome part of our daily life.

RICHARD MICHAEL FREDERICK (RICH)

General I and Drafting

Swing Band, Rifle Club

Rich was always willing to help a fellow classmate with a problem. He had a real love for drums and we will remember his skillful use of them in the Swing Band.

JAMES ALBERT FRIGIOLA (JAKE)

General I and Machine Shop

Rifle Club, Photography Club, Dramatic Club, Corinthian

Jake's first love was guns, and he showed his knowledge as a member of the Rifle Club. His mechanical proclivity was obvious in the Machine Shop.

NICHOLAS JOHN GASBARRO (NICK)

General I and Automotive

Soccer, Dramatic Club, Glee Club, Swing Band

Nick always had a kind word for everybody. He was a welcome figure wherever he went. As a member of the soccer team, Glee Club and Swing Band, he contributed much to Girard.

EDWARD HENRY GRIESEL (ED)

Academic and Stenographic

Girard News, Student Center, Seminar

Wherever Ed goes, his cheerful manner is sure to bring happiness and laughter. His friendliness to all and his willingness to help others make him a fine Girardian. There is no doubt that Ed was a definite asset to our class.

JAMES TIMOTHY HAEFELE (JIM)

General II and Automotive

Echelon

Jim has been more or less quiet, but he has succeeded in making himself well-liked. He contributed whole-heartedly to our intramural sports and did a good job in them.

MICHAEL KARL HAUSMAN (MIKE)

General I and Clerical

N.O.M.A., W.G.C., Glee Club, Girard Literary Magazine

With a smile on his face and a friendly air about him, Mike spent many hours working on the Girard Literary Magazine. He will be remembered for his fine sense of humor for many years to come.

JEFFERY MORGAN HOARD (JEFF)

General I and Clerical

Swimming, Soccer, Baseball, W. G. C.

Jeff's radiant smile, carefree attitude, and cheerful disposition will be missed. His swimming ability was priceless. His way with the opposite sex was envied by many.

CHRISTOPHER FRANCIS HOFMEISTER (CHRIS)

General II and Stenography

Photography Club, Rifle Club, Student Center, Girard News

With a camera or a rifle in his hands, Chris always did a conscientious job when it was needed. His friendliness to all made him one of the more popular Girardians.

EDWARD FRANKLIN HOLMSTROM (ED)

General I and Drafting

Soccer, Basketball, Baseball, Vice-President of Student Council, Glee Club, Corinthian, Dramatic Club, W. G. C.

Ed's stature, leadership, and athletic ability were respected by all. In his quiet effective way he played an important part in the life of the class.

CHARLES CASPER KALATA (CHAL)

General I and Carpentry

Glee Club, Basketball, Rifle Club, Baseball

Chal balances his activity in the Rifle Club and Glee Club by rendering his service as manager of the basketball and baseball teams. We are certain that his life will be interesting.

JOHN JOSEPH KEENAN (JACK)

General II and Automotive

Soccer, Echelon

Jack's ability on the soccer field earned him the respect of his classmates. A neat dresser and a powerful influence on the class, he will always be remembered as one of the "Boys."

ERIC NORTH KNIGHT (RICK)

General II and Automotive

Rifle Club, Photography Club, Track

Rick was as handy with a rifle as he was skillful with a mechanic's wrench. He made his contribution to athletics by participating on the track team.

RAYMOND JAMES KONNECKER (RAY)

General II and Carpentry

Photography Club, Soccer, Girard News

Even though he was restricted from athletics during his younger years at Girard, Ray worked hard and in his senior year made the varsity soccer squad. A fine photographer, Ray put his skill to work as a Girard News photographer.

JAROSLAW KUNYCIA (JERRY)

Academic and Stenography

Seminar, Girard News, N. H. S., Fencing, Student Council, Photography Club

Jerry devoted his Saturday mornings to art, a field in which he is very talented. As co-editor of The Girard News he contributed a great deal of effort to its publication.

RONALD JAY LEVIN (MAX)

Academic and Clerical

Basketball, Girard News, Student Center, W.G.C.

With basketball as his main interest, Max spent long hours in practice and drill. We shall long remember the humorous episodes he created and the leisurely way in which he lived each day.

JOHN CHARLES LEVISON (JOHN)

Academic and Stenography

N. H. S., Band, Corinthian, Swing Band

John, a good-natured fellow who worked hard, will be sincerely missed by all. He was one of our better students, and he took an active role in many of Girard's activities.

JOSEPH FREDERICK LINGG (JOE)

Academic and Clerical

Cross Country, Swimming, Girard News, Rifle Club, Senior Seminar

Joe could usually be found enjoying a book. As a member of the swimming and cross country teams, he exhibited qualities of fair competition which were illustrated both on and off the athletic field.

ROBERT JOHN McCOY (BOB)

Academic and Stenography

Girard News, N. H. S., W. G. C., World Affairs Council

A co-editor of The Girard News, Bob was one of the outstanding students in the class. For his achievement in many fields, he was inducted into the National Honor Society and later was elected its president.

DAVID MILLER (MILLS)

Academic and Printing

Band, Swing Band, Girard Literary Magazine, W. G. C., Dramatic Club, World Affairs Council

As an announcer for W.G.C.-F.M. and a member of the concert and Swing Bands, Mills used his talents for the betterment of Girard. A "smooth" dresser, his clothes helped to identify the well-polished Girardian he was.

LEWIS JOHN MILLER (LEW)

General I and Machine Shop

Band, Student Center

With his life at Girard seemingly "free and uncommitted," Lew spent his afternoons either at the student store or at Concert Band practice.

RICHARD HARRIS MILLER (RICH)

General II and Clerical

Fencing, Girard News

Rich had that enviable combination of both charm and friendliness which will not be easy to forget. An excellent swordsman, he captured more than one medal in foil competition.

MALCOLM JOSEPH MITCHELL (MIKE)

General II and Printing

Echelon, Rifle Club

With his interest in dancing and a well-rounded social life, Mike will be remembered as a friendly Beau Brummel.

GEORGE HARRY MOORE (GEORGE)

General II and Drafting

Photography Club, Soccer, Echelon

One of the quietest boys in the class, George had a warm place in our hearts. A student in the Drafting Shop, he plans to make his future in the field of architecture.

FRANCIS PAUL PAGE (FRANK)

General II and Automotive

Swing Band, Dramatic Club, Girard Literary Magazine

Frank was usually seen with either a guitar or a cartoonist's pencil in his hand. Putting his talents to good use as art director of the Girard Literary Magazine and as a member of the Indigos, Frank performed a real service for Girard.

GIORE MICHAEL PASSERO (GIORE)

General II and Automotive

Echelon, Rifle Club

An immaculate dresser with an easy-going personality, Fiore was quite popular with the opposite sex.

ALAN BYRON POLAND (AL)

Academic and Stenography

N. H. S., Corinthian, Girard News, Cross Country, Seminar

A member of the National Honor Society, Al could be found studying at all hours of the day or night. Among his activities was that of class mailman, a daily task that was appreciated by all. Al was also a determined cross country runner.

DAVID BENJAMIN REESE (DAVE)

General II and Carpentry

Girard News, W G C., Baseball, Soccer, Basketball, Dramatic Club, Treasurer of Student Council.

Dave's cheerful voice was a welcome sound on WGC. His activities included the Student Council and Dramatic Club, but his real place was on the playing field where he won three varsity letters.

JOHN RALPH REGISTER (REG)

General I and Drafting

Fencing, Glee Club, Student Center

Because of his diligent work at the Student Center, Reg became assistant manager in his senior year. As secretary-treasurer of the choir he helped to make it a successful organization.

JOHN PETER REICHERT (JOHNNY)

Academic and Drafting

Glee Club, Rifle Club

One of the quieter members of the class, John had a love for aviation that was exhibited throughout his years at Girard. We expect him to own his own plane.

HARRY EVANS RIGG (HARRY)

General I and Drafting

Wrestling, Track

With his small frame and swift legs, Harry put his abilities to good use on the track and wrestling teams. He likes a contrary point of view.

CARL FRANCIS RIMMER (CARL)

General I and Electrical

W G C

For many years Carl has been the class electrician. In his later years as a ham radio operator and as the W G C technician, he put his knowledge to good use for the benefit of Girard.

RICHARD ANTHONY RITANNANO (RIT)

General I and Drafting

Rifle Club, Girard Literary Magazine

It appeared that Rit received a letter from a different girl every day. His other interest was airplanes. So he will be pilot and married.

WAYNE THOMAS ROBINSON (COACH)

General II and Printing

Baseball, Girard News, W G C, Soccer

Coach will make friends wherever he goes because of his humorous and friendly disposition. As soccer manager, he devoted much time to the Girard teams, and he did a good job.

GEORGE FREDERICK ROHRBAUGH (GEORGE)

General I and Carpentry

Wrestling, Cross Country

One of the smallest members of the class in size, George made up for this with his active participation in sports. His never-say-die spirit will remain in our hearts forever.

JOHN JOSEPH ROSATI (JOHN)

General I and Machine Shop

Wrestling, Dramatic Club, Echelon

John spent long hours practicing for his favorite sport—wrestling, but always found time to help his fellow classmates.

CHARLES HENRY RUDNICKI (CHUCK)

General II and Printing

Soccer, Track, Girard Literary Magazine, Girard Club, Basketball

While participating on the track and soccer teams, Chuck found time to pursue two of the more cultural phases of life—art and writing.

LAZLO IMRE RUDNYANSKY (LAZ)

Academic and Clerical

Cross Country, Track

Although Laz was a voracious reader, he found time to participate in sports and became co-captain of the cross-country team.

TERRY STEVEN RUNYON (TERRY)

THE CORINTHIAN is essentially a portrait of the class of 1962 painted with words and pictures on the background of Girard College. It will be interesting when we first see it in June, and with the passing years this interest will increase. In 1972 and 1982 we can peruse it and turn time back. It will be in the words of James Barrie "our roses in December."

The editors-in-chief, Joseph Dailey and John C. Keenan, have planned, organized, and carried through much of the arduous and detailed work.

Malcolm Berry, Bruce Gordon, Andrew Caruso, John Levison, and Joseph Skojec have faithfully assisted them as copy writers. John Cupani, assisted by Raymond Koecker, was responsible for the photography while Charles Rudnicki, of the Print Shop, created the layout.

The commendable art work done by Robert Scomo is a very important part of this publication. Alan Poland and Philip Franco handled the unrewarding business problems. Finally, the difficult and wearing work of printing advisor was ably shouldered by Joseph Calogero and Mario Valente whose contributions were invaluable.

In many ways THE CORINTHIAN symbolizes the best of our Girard lives and education. With the exception of making the cuts, it is a product of our own work. Photography, writeups, layout, cover cut, printing, all are our handiwork.

The Class and the staff extend their appreciation to Mr. Edward R. Klebe, the sponsor, and Mr. M. Arnold Daffin, Instructor in Printing, who have been ever ready to help.

When the fall issue of The Girard Literary Magazine appeared on February 5, 1962, it was greeted with pleasure and surprise by everyone. The new format, the new title, the larger size, and the full cover cut had combined to give this first issue under the sponsorship of Miss Fern McCracken a distinctly new interest and appeal.

The keynote of the material was variety, poetry, descriptive essays, short stories and travelogues, all distinguished by imagination and intelligent observation. For the first time a faculty member contributed. Miss Juliet E. Stacks wrote a very interesting account of a recent trip to Mexico entitled "Joie de Vivre." A section devoted to the writing of boys in the Elementary School added interest. As the editors stated in a prefatory letter, "the intent of the magazine is to give Girardians an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to write creatively.

George Najarian and Michael Hausman as editors under Miss McCracken's guidance have worked hard and done well. David Miller and James Stabene with the assistance of Mr. M. Arnold Daffin have created page layouts which had strong reader appeal. There were many laudatory comments on the cover design created by George Egler.

To leave with all of you some thought from our literary efforts let me quote from David Albee's Pursuit of Happiness.

"Each of us must find out for himself that there is a distinct difference between happiness and contentment. Happiness is something that can never be measured in terms of dollars and cents: it is learned through the wise use of freedom, based on work well done, cultivated through friendship and rooted in a deep love of God."

We congratulate the staff for their good thinking and begin our search for happiness.

Nothing is more powerful than the written word. The editors of The Girard News have the responsibility of using words wisely. Co-Editors Robert McCoy and Jaroslaw Kunyia have worked hard and have produced an excellent school newspaper.

The sponsor, Mr. Caswell E. MacGregor, was out of school during the first month. His work was capably carried on by Dr. Raymond I. Haskell, former head of the English Department and Principal. Without the whole-hearted cooperation of Mr. Arnold Daffin in the Print Shop we could not have produced the News.

One of the most improved departments of the News was in the editorials. Two stand out: "Let Us Give Thanks and Be Grateful" and "A Quiet Force." Articles on the alumni in the teaching profession and the listed All-American soccer players also attracted wide interest.

Efficiently heading the Exchange Department was David Albee; Vincent Bakey took charge of distribution while Bruce Gordon and Alan Poland served as Associate News Editors. The important position of Printing Advisor was filled by Charles Rudnicki. Harvey Feldman as Sports Editor did a commendable job in that popular department. Photographers Chris Hofmeister and Terry Runyon also turned in some fine work.

During each of the last three years the News has been awarded a third, a second, and a first place in the Columbia Press Association Competition. During the present year we have won another first place.

To be a member of the choir means to spend hours in rehearsal so that a successful concert may be given. From this a boy achieves a satisfaction and feeling of accomplishment which is unparalleled in most other phases of Girard life.

As in years past, the choir did an excellent job in the annual Christmas Concert. Some of the selections were: "Fum-Fum-Fum", "The Boar's Carol," and the familiar German carol "O Tannenbaum." Dr. Harry C. Banks, the former director of music at Girard, directed a number which he had composed; "Hark! Hear the Merry Bells." The junior choir sang "Pat-a-Pan," and the concert was culminated with "Star of Bethlehem," from the motion picture "Ben Hur."

Under the capable leadership of its officers: David Albee, President; Frank Silenzio, Vice-President; and John Register, Secretary-treasurer, the choir achieved much success. A concert was given at Valley Forge, and in March the choir members appeared at the Academy of Music where they sang "Polevetician Dances."

Preparing for each Sunday morning chapel service and other outside performances were important parts of their musical education. The boys of the choir sincerely wish to thank Mr. Anthony Falatico, their director, and Miss Juliet Stacks, their accompanist, for their inspiring leadership and never-ending efforts on the choir's behalf.

The Student Council of 1961-62 was different in that the Senior and Junior High Councils merged and became the student governing body of Girard. Also new was the advisory system. Each student now has a faculty counselor for his entire five years in the High School.

Much of the Council's work was centered on improving the weekends for the reserved boys. The fact that every area of Girard life was represented in the Council helped to promote both fair and sincere discussions on all matters that confronted the Council. The Council's job was two-fold: to express the student's opinions and suggestions to the administration and to relate the administration's desires to the student body.

The Council is indebted to Mr. Harold Holman, who with his experience, guided us through the year. The officers chosen for the year were: Bruce Gordon, Student Body President; Edward Holmstrom, Vice President; Robert McCoy and Jaroslaw Kunycka, Recording Secretaries; David Dickman, Corresponding Secretary; and David Reese, Treasurer.

The Junior National Honor Society and a skating rink were first introduced to Girard this year. The Junior High was also granted the privilege of attending an away Junior High soccer game.

The retiring members of the Council leave as their motto: "It's not what Girard can do for me, but what I can do for Girard."

Somebody once said, "Man does not live by bread alone." We're sure that at Girard, many hungry students would have disagreed.

The staff of the Student Center for the year of '61, '62 can be proud of its achievements. Under the sponsorship of Mr. George H. Dunkle and the exceptionally fine managing of David Dickman, they have shattered all previous records of sales and profits by hundreds of dollars. The staff can be proud of their work.

In the fall of the year, Dave Dickman, realizing that many seniors were too busy with various activities to get to the "Store", decided to bring the store to Allen Hall. Many of our evenings were brightened with the "goodies" that were to be found in Dave's big box.

Certainly there are many days that are made more enjoyable because there is the opportunity to buy a coke, a piece of candy or an ice cream sandwich at the Center. It contributes the invaluable pleasure of providing a student meeting place where one can joke and talk with friends, play pool, or just enjoy a few leisure moments.

All of the social affairs were made possible due to the never-tiring workers of the "Store." Among the many who worked hard for the satisfaction of doing a job well were John Register, Assistant Manager; Michael Ambrose, Bookkeeper; George Najarian, Secretary; and numerous counter heads.

The Student Center has been bringing happiness into our lives since we were little 'Westies.' It shall be long remembered by the Class of 1962!

The first production of the Dramatic Club of 1961-1962 was original and close to the hearts of all Girardians. It was completely coordinated and produced by Mr. Henry V. Andrews assisted by several student directors under the title Scenes in the Life of a Girardian. It was, in effect, a panorama of our activities. The dramatic sketches depicted the social life of a Hummer, Girard athletics the training of the Battalion, and high points in the life of a senior. They were excellently written and performed and thoroughly appreciated by the audience.

In the spring the Thespians presented The World Waits, a tense drama written by George F. Humal, which deals with an expedition sent out to explore the unknown Antarctic continent. It creates the conflict between physical leadership and the leadership based on faith and moral convictions. Outstanding performances were given by John C. Keenan, Harvey Feldman, Andrew Di Giuseppe, and Richard Flaherty.

Elected as officers of the Club were John C. Keenan, President; Joseph Dailey, Vice President; and Philip Franco, Secretary-treasurer.

Basber Drills Recruits

The experience of being a member of the Dramatic Club is a memory to be cherished. There are long hours of rehearsal; there is the task of absorbing the character to be portrayed; and there is the feeling of hope and fearful confidence just before the performance. The patience, the understanding, and the discipline required of each boy under Mr. Andrew's direction develops an appreciation of the drama which can be acquired in no other way.

In June of 1961, when the new WGC writers and announcers took over, they were infants in the field of practical radio announcing and writing. Now, after a year of faithful service to Girard, they have gained the experience found only in the professional world.

Under the excellent guidance and sponsorship of Mr. Henry V. Andrews, the staff has done more than its share to better Girard life. The cliché "to brighten up your Monday morning blues" was not just an expression, but the actual purpose of the radio program.

The accent of each broadcast was on news, views, trends, sports, music, and humor. Special congratulations are in order for Joe Dailey, the Director of Writers, and Mike Berry, the Assistant Director, who spent long hours each week producing a well-balanced program for good radio listening. The constant work of these boys, together with the valuable reporting of such boys as Harvey Feldman and Roger Woodruff made the show a continuous success.

In the announcing department, Jack Keenan served as Head Announcer, opening and closing each show with his commanding voice and effective delivery.

On Tuesday morning WGC-FM provided classical music for the entertainment of the audience. David Miller and Lazlo Rudnyanski alternated as announcers for the show.

We of the Class of 1962 hope the future staff members will uphold the Girard tradition of good radio programs.

Twelve experienced and enthusiastic seniors directed by Captain James Collins made up the nucleus of the 1961-1962 Concert Band. They had begun five years ago their patient practice amid the discordant sounds of trumpets, trombones, clarinets and other instruments. Under the patient tutelage of Mr. Morrison they improved in skill until they became regular members of the Band. This was their final year, and they were responsible for making this a musical organization of which they could be proud.

In preparing for the annual Christmas Concert Captain Collins succeeded in developing a commendable morale which resulted in a fine Concert. It was considered one of the best in the long tradition of good music. Among the selections played and well received by the audience were Water Music, Air and March, Fantasy for Band, and Dvorak's Slavonic Dances. Certainly the members and Mr. Morrison felt a deep sense of satisfaction in their accomplishment.

During the year, the band visited Harrington High School, and performed in the Founder's Day and Spring Concerts. The members shall never forget the preparation for Saturday morning concerts, and their chance to lead the "in-march" or "out-march."

The annual trips to the Zoo and the river-boat trip on the Delaware to celebrate National Maritime Day will be cherished memories. What is gained from participation in the Concert Band is a love for music, the thought that practice brings one closer to perfection, and the will to work until a piece of music is understood.

Sometime during the next few years almost all of this graduating class will serve as a member of the armed forces of the United States. We shall have been well prepared by Colonel James M. Hamilton and Master Sergeant Matthew McMiller in our Battalion drills.

In the very responsible position of Cadet Major commanding four companies was Edward Holmstrom. He was assisted by a group of competent officers: Captain of Recruits Robert Basher, Captain Quartermaster John C. Keenan, Captain Inspector Bruce Gordon, and Captain Adjutant Walter Maholick.

Commanding the individual companies were Captain Andrew DiGiuseppe, Company C; Captain Alfred DiTizio, Company D; Captain Gene Ferro, Company A; and Captain Joseph Calogero, Company B. Each of the leaders strove to develop his unit into a superior group.

The test came in the mid-term competitive drill when Captain DiGiuseppe's Company C took first honors. Company D under Captain DiTizio was in second place.

Founder's Day found the Battalion at its best giving an outstanding performance and earning the commendations of Alumni and distinguished guests.

From the time and effort we have devoted to the battalion during our years in the high school, we reap such benefits as an appreciation and understanding of discipline, a realization of the demanding nature of authority, and the poise which is necessary to go on to success.

Since the time when we were "newbies" in knickers our teachers have, in accordance with Stephen Girard's precepts, have taught us "the purest principles of morality." Students honored by election into the National Honor Society on the bases of character, service, leadership, and scholarship can be proud that they have gone far toward attaining our Founder's ideal. They have set standards which every loyal Girardian should try to reach.

Each year, in the spring and in the fall, two auditorium programs are set aside to honor these outstanding students. Here they are recognized by a national organization and the Student Body as true sons of Stephen Girard, whose contributions have been exemplary.

Robert McCoy, Jeroslaw Kunyia, Bruce Gordon, Donald Debus, George Najarian, and John C. Keenan were chosen for this honor in the spring of 1961. The officers elected were Robert McCoy, President; Donald Debus, Vice-President; and Jaroslaw Kunyia, Secretary.

Selected by students and faculty after a careful system of voting and rating, theirs is one of the highest honors possible in the high school years. The N.H.S. pin is a symbol of respect recognized nationally.

The autumn of 1961 brought Alan Poland, Harvey Feldman, and John Levison into the membership.

Many thanks must go to Mr. Albert H. Schoell, the Society's faculty sponsor, for his interest and understanding.

World Affairs Council

(First Row) B. Gordon, L. Rudnyansky, Mr. Wagner, J. Saskel, D. Dickman
(Second Row) D. Miller, J. C. Keenan, J. Dailey, D. Debus, W. Biscontin

This was the twenty-fifth year in which the Girard Seniors and Juniors have taken part in the Interscholastic Senior High School Student Forums which are sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia.

Last spring Joseph Dailey, because of his interest and ability, was elected co-chairman of the Interscholastic Senior High School Council, the Girard branch of which is sponsored by Mr. H. Emory Wagner, head of the Social Studies Department.

Subjects discussed at the meetings during the year were provocative and timely. Nuclear testing, unaligned nations, the Common Market, Latin America, the problems in Southeast Asia and the functions of the United Nations were at various times critically analyzed. The students agree that this program not only gave them a better understanding of world problems but also deepened their interest in other areas of study.

Girard's service at the Council was given recognition when it was chosen to represent and defend the policies of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics at the Model United Nations held on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania. Each of the participating schools of the World Affairs Council represented a country at this meeting which was patterned after the United Nations of New York.

During the year the Council sponsored three trips to New York to observe the U.N. in action. Girardians were among those who took advantage of this opportunity.

Social Life

Dr. Dukes, Mrs. Hearn, Mrs. Dukes, Miss McGhee, Mr. Foley

It was in the ninth grade that Miss Miriam McGhee, our devoted and indefatigable Social Directress first looked at the socially shapeless group that we then were. In her class, labeled Social Guidance, we were firmly molded into "the Girardian, the gentleman." In the succeeding year we were led to the small gym to learn the art of dancing under the tutelage of the famous Mr. John Keenan.

After months of determined preparation we appeared, expectantly and fearfully, at our first affair, the traditional Sophomore Coke Party. It was our first experience with girls at a semi formal party. We were abrupt and shy, bold and withdrawn; we were being educated socially. Who of us could ever forget it.

Having made the initial leap, we returned to a colorful schedule of dances in the junior year with assurance and anticipation. There were attractive girls, melodious music, and the inevitable punch, all blended. Then we had our first formal, the Cadet Dance, with corsages, polished brass, taxi cabs, and flat wallers.

In the senior year the shapeless ninth grader had become the gentleman. Two house parties, two canteen dances, two cadet dances, and three class dances gave ample opportunity to refine the social graces and enjoy life to the full. They added the color and pleasant buoyancy to a schedule crowded with examinations, term papers, and general routine.

We express to our hosts and hostesses, Dr. and Mrs. Dukes, Mr. Richard Foley and Mrs. Beatrice Hearn, our thanks for all their thoughtfulness. We are also grateful to Miss Miriam McGhee who has made our social life at Girard a pleasant and rewarding experience.

Through the years the successive swing bands have improved and have become a necessary and enjoyable part of our Girard life. This year, for example, the Indigoes, with John Cupani as the leader, have contributed their melodious rhythm to assemblies in the Junior School and in the High School and to nearly all of the dances in our social program.

This excellent musical organization has no sponsor and is completely student directed. The members practice assiduously and enthusiastically. As an independent activity it is unique in our program.

With the experience of their junior year John Levison, David Miller, Pat Daly, William Verna, and Captain John Cupani formed the nucleus of the 1962 Indigoes whose theme song was Autumn Leaves. Other tunes we shall remember them for are: Sing, Sing, Sing, Little Brown Jug, and Rock-a-bye Your Baby with a Dixie Melody. These are songs that will always remind us of the parties and dances of our final Hum year.

Members of the swing bands of previous years have gone on to make a career in music. Undoubtedly some one of the 1962 group will follow this precedent. All of them have developed an interest which will bring them pleasure permanently. We shall look forward to hearing them play at the twenty-fifth reunion.

The Indigoes have done much to make the senior year memorable. Their long hours of practice have given us a band of which we are proud.

Photography Club

R. Koennecker, C. Hofmeister, T. Runyon, J. Kunyia

Indisputably the Photography Club has been one of the busiest activities on the campus during the year. Every sporting event, social occasion, or special service was an invitation to get out the camera and seize the moment in a picture. Literally hundreds of pictures were taken for the Girard News and the Corinthian. Much of the value of the book in your hands stems from their work. The pictures before you will increase in meaning and sentimental value each year.

The service and the interest which the club makes possible result from the work of its officers: Christopher Hofmeister, President; Terry Runyon, Vice-President; and Jerry Kunyia, Secretary.

Constant, steady, and lending a hand when needed Mr. Perley H. Pease, our sponsor, has earned our thanks.

The Rifle Club for 1961-62 has continued to be one of Girard's finest but less conspicuous organizations. Originally it was instituted for the purpose of training its members in the safe use of firearms and in marksmanship. Every senior member has been the recipient of awards at the level of sharpshooter; some have earned higher ranking.

The officers for this year have been Donald Debus, President; Christopher Hofmeister, Vice-President; Eric Knight, Senior Range Officer; and Malcolm Zerbe, Junior Range Officer. Other members were James Frigiola, Philip Franco, John Reichert, and Richard Ritunnano.

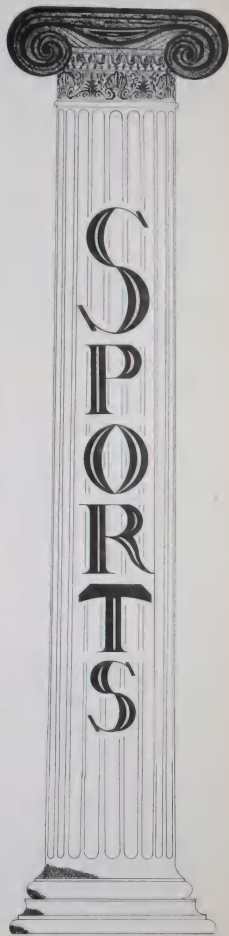

Rifery is a sport that we can enjoy at any age. Because the Club members will probably pursue this interest throughout their lives, we feel that it is a very important school activity.

The patience, time, and effort which Mr. Roy Glerum, our sponsor has devoted to the Club has earned our respect and our thanks.

In recent years fencing at Girard has earned a high place in the field of sports, and the achievements of the 1962 swordsmen have added to its prestige.

The Yale Trophy which is emblematic of the top echelon in high school fencing in Pennsylvania has again been awarded to the Girard team. It is the second successful year that our fencers have won this highly coveted cup. The team can be proud of its record.

The three competitors responsible for this honor are Captain Andrew Caruso in the sabre, Richard Miller in the foil and John Register in the epee. Caruso was the recipient of a Warren Sword for taking first in his division.

Throughout the regular season the senior members seemed to fare best. John Register and Jaroslaw Kunyacia served as the backbone of the epee squad. Rich Miller won a number of medals in the American Fencers League Association competition. Andrew Caruso's undefeated record was an outstanding feat that is rarely achieved.

The team was privileged to have as its coach Mr. Benjamin Rothberg, a dedicated man who was the deciding factor in making the team of 1961-1962 a success. He has produced fine teams in the past and we know he will continue to do so in the future.

The 1962 soccer team captained by Richard Flaherty and Joseph Skojec upheld the great Girard tradition in this sport by winning the Independent Schools Championship of Philadelphia.

The booters' play varied from generally brilliant to occasionally mediocre. They lost the important West Chester State College game, 4-0, but bounced back to sink the Plebes of Annapolis, 3-2 in one of the best games of the season.

The starting line consisted of Joseph Skojec, Richard Flaherty, John J. Keenan, Charles Rudnicki, Malcolm Allardyce, and Thomas Buchman. Behind them were Bruce Gordon, David Reese, Jeff Hoard, John Coyle, Robert Basher, William Swartz and goalie Ed Holmstrom.

Much of the credit for this successful season was the result of the hard work of coaches David Wolstenholme and Terry Cooper.

The swimming team of 1961-'62 ranks among the best in recent years with a final record of seven victories, three losses, and one tie.

Perhaps more important than these statistics was the high moral. In every practice session and every meet there was confidence, and a contagious spirit which made every man do better than he thought he could.

Under the leadership of Co-captains Mike Berry, Jim Collins, and Phil Franco, there was a consistent exhibition of good sportsmanship and a strong desire to come through in the pinch.

A number of school records were broken. Jim Hartman lowered his personal record in the 100-yard freestyle to 54.3. Bill Miller established a new Hum record of 1:14:2 in the 100-yard breaststroke, Allen Yarbrough lowered the 100-yard butterfly to 1:06:7 record.

Some of the victories were very satisfying, particularly those over the Haverford School and the West Chester State College. The squad had the distinction of defeating Northeast Public High School, a team that went on to become the Public League Champions.

A good season is the product of hard work and good coaching. Coach Demech has given us both and we are grateful.

There is an old saying "He didn't know it couldn't be done, and so he went ahead and did it." During the wrestling season this often seemed to apply to various members of the team. They didn't know that they were supposed to lose so they won. Of course, there were other factors. They were eager to improve and willing to work in practice. There was an obvious spirit of working as individual; for that the team deserves commendation. The final record of eight wins and five losses is an impressive accomplishment over very strong competition.

Co-Captains Tom Buchman and Fred DiTizio by their winning records and leadership set the pace. Bob Basher, Jim Braun, Al Bilheimer, and George Rohrbaugh played important roles in the team's success.

The grapplers placed second in the Episcopal Invitational Wrestling Tournament, placing eight in the semi-finals and three in the finals. John Maleno winning over his Haverford opponent was the only Hummer to win a trophy. Fred DiTizio went through the regular season with thirteen wins and no losses, an outstanding accomplishment. He came through in every crisis to give his teammates sound leadership.

We gratefully acknowledge the devoted work of Coaches David Wolstenholme and Frank Sabol whose tireless efforts and enthusiasm inspired the team throughout the season.

Mr. R. Foley

With only two lettermen returning the '62 basketball team was handicapped from the start. In spite of this Coach Foley did a remarkable job in creating a strong quintet for the opening game and tabling a 5-8 record for the season.

Captained by Ed Holmstrom (6'2"), the team got off to a good start, doing better than they had hoped, by taking the first four games. However the competition was relatively weak, or there was a bad letdown, for in their fifth game a tall, powerful Dobbins team turned back the Hummers by a 25 point margin, 56-31.

What happened after this defeat is a coach's nightmare. Luck changed from bad to worse. The team seemed to fall apart, losing five successive games, the worst a 65-35 loss to Haverford School.

There seemed to be a turning point when Rich Flaherty scored the season's high for a single game to pace the Hum in defeating the Westtown School, 45-37. It was not a sustained burst and the quintet finished with their 5-8 record. The boys had the opportunity of learning to be good losers.

In points scored, Rich Flaherty led the team with 162 points. Ed Holmstrom, was second with 147, and Joe Dailey was in third with 105.

We wish to express to Coach Foley our thanks for never letting us give up in this losing season.

Mr. T. Cooper

Led by Captain Joe Skojec and his heavy hitting, this year's baseball team is threatening to break the existing Hum record of 10-3 set last year.

In all three areas pitching, fielding, and hitting the team has shown commendable prowess. Leading power hitters are Skojec and Ed Holmstrom, closely followed by Lou Di Guglielmo and Mario Valente. To date every player seems to be at his best in the clutch.

The pitching staff has been particularly effective. Ed Holmstrom and Bruce Gordon have performed very well, turning in two-hit games against Benjamin Franklin and West Catholic. Behind the plate Dave has been a key player with good judgment and a good arm.

On the field the team has improved steadily. Coach Terry Cooper has continually stressed their fielding, their know-how, and their speed. The players have worked with him and have been on their toes every minute of play and practice. It is this headsup spirit that has been a major factor in their success.

John Coyle's smart work in base stealing played an important part in a number of games.

To Coach Cooper we express our thanks for his untiring effort and his faith in us.

Under Coach Gibson the cindermen opened their training for the 1962 season with only one returning letterman. Charles Rudnicki, and four other seniors Rich Flaherty, Joseph Calogero, Lazlo Rudnyansky, and Charles Woodruff. Flaherty and Rudnicki were elected co-captains to lead this inexperienced but determined squad.

The season opened with a lop-sided loss to a strong Episcopal Academy team by the score 71-28. Undaunted, they practiced harder and went on in their second dual meet to defeat Friends Central by 52-47 margin.

In the highly competitive Penn Relays, they failed to place among the winners but continued to show improvement. This was also true in the Spiked Shoe meet and the Church Farm Invitational meet.

The squad was weak in the distance running but exhibited better than average strength in the hurdles and sprints. Richard Flaherty consistently did better than eighteen feet in the broad jump.

A group of sophomores and juniors who, although they did not score heavily, improved consistently throughout the season will return to the '63 team with a year of varsity experience. These boys, Robert Norton, Joseph Flaherty, Phillip Newton, Edward Brown, Thomas Hill, Richard Murray and Joel Dempsey will be the nucleus of a strong team.

Led by Co-Captains George Rohrbaugh and Laszlo Rudnyansky and guided by Coach Robert W. Gibson, the Steel and Garnet harriers in their second official season made a creditable record.

They competed in three dual meets, winning one and losing two: defeating Germantown Friends and trailing Williamson Trade School and Episcopal Academy.

In a quadrangular meet held at the Church Farm School they took a well earned second place.

Because of the rigorous physical punishment which each member of the team goes through in building up the stamina and endurance which is necessary to excel in a sport such as this, good health and a strong team spirit are primary requisites for having a good team.

Injuries hampered both captains and Fletcher Brown during much of the season. These handicaps seem to serve merely to strengthen the determination of the team to improve.

Although the team will lose three members by graduation, a strong nucleus of experienced underclassmen should produce a good team in 1963.
